Making the invisible - VISIBLE

Architectural Consultancy firm James & Ward was founded by its owner and Managing Director, Andrew James Ward in 2006. Based in Eccleshall, Staffordshire, we specialise in the design and specification of large scale developments using Building Information Modelling (BIM).

We offer a conception to completion service to our customers right from design phase, through planning, to construction and completion, and enjoy close working relationships with partners at all levels of the development process.

Our evolution using Building Information Modelling (BIM) as standard on all our projects has allowed us to work more effectively and efficiently, saving both ourselves and our clients, time and money.

Our clients have verified that using BIM at the tender stage gained an edge over the competition. The ability to “walk” a client through a full set of 3D visuals, photographs and videos is proving highly successful, as is the ability to project energy consumption, maintenance and lifecycle costs.

Going beyond the call of duty!

James & Ward has a solid reputation within the industry. Our work on Asda Superstores is described as going beyond the call of duty. We are one of only five Architectural companies globally appointed by ASDA and have worked with many contractors on a huge variety of premises.
